Guidance Notes:

You can apply at any time but applications are considered on a quarterly basis. Deadlines will be 15th March, 15th June, 15th September and 15th December.

1. Eligibility for Training Schemes

The programme is open to all, but priority is given to

- researchers who are members of AMI teams,
- researchers who intend to visit AMI teams,
- researchers who can demonstrate close connections with AMI research.
- Proposals with an industrial component

2. Host sites available

The 15 AMI partners will act as host sites: for details of their areas of expertise, see <http://www.amiproject.org>.

3. Length of Internships available

Visits typically occupy 3 months for undergraduates and masters students and 6 months or more for Ph.D. students and postdoctoral researchers.

A specific programme funds visits of 6 months or more to the International Computer Science Institute, Berkeley, CA. For Ph.D. students and postdoctoral researchers, visits to ICSI will typically be at least 6 months. Senior scientists are also encouraged to apply, in which case proposals for shorter visits will also be entertained.

4. Funding available

Funding covers travel and living expenses, but not salary. Living expenses will typically be 1250 Euro/month.

In the case of the ICSI scheme, based in Berkeley, CA, typical living expenses are 2000 Euro/Month.
